HALIBUTER SHORT OF FUEL TOWED TO THIS PORT

Sch. Catherine, Capt. Archie McLeod, was towed to port late yesterday afternoon by a 75-foot patrol boat from Base 7. The Catherine, with four lowers set, was sighted off of Thacher's yesterday about 3 o'clock by Capt. John Glynn of the Rockport Coast Guard, and knowing the vessel, realized that something was wrong. He put off in the surf boat and hailed the Catherine, and found she had run short of fuel oil and was trying to make port. Capt. Glynn towed the Catherine for some distance, and then turned her over to the patrol boat. After securing a supply of ice, the schooner sailed for Boston last evening.

LOCAL SKIPPER TO COMMAND YACHT

In the presence of nearly 1500 persons, the handsome schooner auxiliary yacht Vileh, built for H. T. Horton of Chula Vista, California, was launched recently from the yard of the San Diego Marine railways. The yacht is the largest craft ever built in the Californian yards, being 80 feet long, with a beam of 19 feet. She is powered by a 150 horse power engine and was designed by Edson B. Schock, nationally known naval architect.

The new yacht will be in charge of Donald MacCuish of this city, who left here early in the spring for California.
